Chairman's Report

The 39th year of the Australian National Amateur Wine and Beer Show (ANAWBS) has again been very successful, as it has offered amateur wine and beer makers the opportunity to have their wines and beers not only to be professionally judged and commented upon, but also to compete against their peers. The fine tradition with the National Show over the past four decades has seen the the quality and standard of the beer and wine continuing to rise. As in former years, the Judges have acknowledged the passion, the commitment and the desire to improve, of the entrants. Their judging notes have reflected their positive views of the high standard of the wine and beer and the development and maturity of the entries, as well as the care that entrants showed in presenting their beer or wine.

Throughout the 39 years of the Show, the two host clubs – The Amateur Winemakers and Brewers Club of Adelaide and the Blackwood Winemakers and Brewers Club – have continued to strongly support ANAWBS. It has been their financial backing, as well as their belief in the integrity and need for such a National Show, plus the excellent commitment and contribution of the volunteers on both the Organising Committee and during the Show days, that has been the backbone of the success of this, and past Shows.

From the beginning of the year, the ANAWBS Organising Committee, drawn from the two host clubs, has met regularly and planned the Show. With the experience drawn from organising many Shows, this highly committed Committee must be thanked and congratulated for their planning and co-ordination of this Show. As has been said in past Chairman's Reports, there is no question that the ongoing success and growth of this show is entirely due to this dedicated group.

Over the days of the Show, the volunteers from both clubs have undertaken many and varied roles such as receiving, documenting and collating entries, being stewards on the judging days, continually washing glasses, presenting the beers and wines for the Judges, doing the general daily clean-up and organising and arranging the awards presentation, and then the cleaning of the venue afterwards - to all, we thank you for your commitment and assistance.

Every year, it is the task of the Organising Committee to organise the Judging Panels for both the Beer and Wine judging, and again this year, we have been very privileged to able to have had access to such quality and recognised judges. With the wine and beer judging each over two days, our judges have not only willingly and graciously given of their time and knowledge, but they have also been prepared to write clear and constructive comments. We repeatedly receive comments after the Show from entrants thanking the Judges for their comments and that they have learnt so much from these words and ways of improving.

ANAWBS could not continue without the support of our sponsors, many who have sponsored the Show for many years, either through fiscal or in kind support. With their continued support and underwriting of the Show, it has enabled the Organising Committee to be able to defray the costs of trophies, medals and venue. In the Results Book and our Web pages we recognise and publicise our sponsors and we strongly encourage beer and wine makers to support their businesses.

A Show such as ANAWBS could not continue to exist over four decades without the wonderful and continued support of you, the entrants. On behalf of both Host Clubs and the Organising Committee, may we thank you for your excellent and continued support of this National Show, and trust that you will continue to enter your beers and wines in future years.

Many thanks

Brian Ferris
